OR

Award winning Northern Ireland designer, Jill Phillips, launches a precious Dressing Table; limited edition; available to the national and international market. After the success of her last three pieces Jill, once again has pushed boundaries to create an expansive piece of furniture.

Jill signature style examines the old, our past, when form and shape were elegant and bounteous: - researching design and skills, finding the lost, brushing off the dust and returning them into the light. A return to the grandeur of elegance, twisted in design, representing Jill's signature style.

Examining the splendour of the bygone era; "dressing for dinner" brings images of sunlight, delicacy and elegance to the forefront of ones mind. Preparation for evening dinner was highly regarded and completed in fitting surroundings. Examining the concept of this in today's environment includes all of the above however relaxing with friends, eating delicacies and delighting in conversation combined with the playfulness of the afternoon; a girlie naughtiness is added!

Combing all of this together, I introduce Lilian. An exquisite delight for any female's dressing room: a combination of Indian Rosewood and Crystal forming a truly magnificent dressing table.

Within this, many deeper meanings and its true exceptional craftsmanship becomes apparent. A total of fourteen legs, three of which are crystal the other 11 created from Indian rosewood, hand turned. The story of the craftsman is created from left to right; subtly through the leg: - the left hand side being solid Indian rosewood block gradually displaying the skill of the turned leg to emanate into full form, allowing the purity of the skill to be represented through the three crystal legs. The crystal; hand blown, formed and hand cut by a team of experts, truly a specialised technique. A solid rosewood top, combined with drawers lined in leather; printed and embroidered. Appreciation of the time spent by the maker to allow elegance to emerge from beautiful wood and the solid crystal. Collaboration between craftsmen, a dressing table materializes, displaying the art and skill required by the eye and hand.

In completion, important values from the past are contained in Lilian, subtly displayed for the observer to construct their own visual experience, combine this with unprecedented design to create a precious and exquisite dressing table.
